MILL ORDINANCE IN EFFECT SOON

Health and Safety Law Operative After September 15

Ordinance No. 315, adopted by the board of supervisors on August 16, for the purpose of regulating conditions around the mills of the county, in the unincorporated areas, which are engaged in the manufacture of lumber products, and which create fire hazards, becomes effective on September 16, 1948.

This ordinance makes it unlawful for any such mill to operate without first obtaining a permit from the tax collector of the county.

A fee of $25 will be charged for permits and the funds so collected shall be credited to the county general fund.

The permit authorizes the person, firm or company to whom it is issued to operate a sawmill or other manufacturing plant in accordance with the laws pertaining to such operations, and is not transferable to any other operator or operation, and is subject to suspension upon conviction of the person to which it is issued of having violated any fire, health or safety law pertaining to the operation authorized by the permit.

The permit may be suspended by any justice court having jurisdiction in the matter, after the conviction of the owner of the permit.

The permit can be reinstated only after the owner has applied to the court for an examination by the proper enforcement officer and after such officer has reported that the violations for which the permit was suspended have been corrected.

Permits must be obtained annually, and are valid from the date of issue until April 30 of the following year. They must be placed in a safe and conspicuous place upon the premises of the property for which it is issued.

Penalties provided for violation of the ordinance are from $50 to $500, or imprisonment in the county jail for no more than six months of the person guilty of the violation, or by both fine and imprisonment.

All duly authorized peace officers, and public officers charged with enforcement of fire prevention laws have the power to enforce this ordinance.

Valley Blaze Burns Home

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McDougal of Ukiah lost the partly finished 3-room cottage which they were building in Redwood valley in a fire Saturday which is unexplained as to its origin.

With the partly finished building the McDougals lost furniture sufficient to furnish the home and which they had moved into a tent set up near the building.

There was no one in attendance at the place and the alarm was turned in to the Redwood Valley Fire Department by a resident from the west side of the valley, who saw the smoke. When the department arrived the building, tent and contents were gone up in smoke and the firemen turned their attention to putting out the brush and timber fire set by sparks from the burning building.

Mr. McDougal is an employe of the Pacific Telephone Company; Mrs. McDougal is with the Montgomery Ward store. They were both at their work when their home burned.

Arthur L. Harris Rites Held Here Sunday

One Of City's Leading Citizens Succumbs To Long Illness

Arthur L. Harris, civic and business leader and former mayor of Ukiah, died in Ukiah General Hospital Thursday evening, August 26, after a lingering illness. His death ended a career of constructive leadership and great personal popularity and saddened the community in which he had lived for 19 years.

It also brought to a close an exceptionally close partnership, both personal and in business with his wife, Drusia Stewart Harris whom he married November 20, 1914. He is also survived by their daughter Marjorie, Mrs. Bartow W. Van Voorhis, Jr., of Lone Pine and her children Bartow III and Gretchen.

A brother, Leslie Harris, who lived here formerly and was in business with him, and was married in their home, was here with his wife from their home in Santa Rosa, for the funeral services on Sunday, August 29, at the Eversole Mortuary.

Masonic Services

Members of Abell Lodge, F. & A.M. directed the services which preceded interment in Ukiah Masonic Cemetery. The Rev. Coyne Gifford officiated. Pall bearers were Ed Davis, B. A. Cober, Walter Sandelin, Paul Mathews, Paul Poulos and Ruel Stickney.

Other surviving members of his family are his sisters, Mrs. Cora E. Seydel, of Olympia, Wash., Mrs. Ella Umland, Fortuna, and Miss Bertha Harris, Pullman, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris moved to Ukiah from Calistoga in 1929 and have conducted growing business interests here. In 1934 he was elected to the city council and in 1940 he became mayor for four years. He was a past patron of Kingsley Chapter 58 of the Order of Eastern Star, past master of Calistoga Lodge F.&A.M. and past president of Rotary Club.

Born In Kansas

He was born in Lawrenceville, Kans., March 29, 1890, and came to California 41 years ago. His late father, Lee H. Harris, lived in the Harris home here after his mother's death and friends recall the devotion between son and father until the latter's death in 1941. Many still remember him as 'Grandpa Harris.'

It is also recalled that 'Art' Harris was one of the original sponsors of the municipal golf course during his tenure of office on the city council. He was an accomplished public speaker, democratic and tolerant in his views and responsive to progressive opinion.

Among the many who share the sense of loss in his passing are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dove of Oroville, niece and nephew of Mrs. Harris; her brother, James Stewart and his family of the Flying S ranch in Pope Valley, and her sister, Mrs. Dove of Yuba City.

Former Mayor Is Dead

ARTHUR L. HARRIS, former mayor and civic leader, died Thursday, August 26, after long illness.

Fire Department In Friday Workout

The Ukiah Fire Department set something of a record on Friday of last week in answering three alarms within 37 minutes.

Two of the calls came during the noon hour from the M. L. Stevenson home on Apple avenue where cleaning solvent being used on the back porch became ignited from the pilot light of the water heater. The damage was small.

The second call, hard upon the heels of the first, was a grass fire at Apple and Cherry streets.

Another grass fire at the 101 Lumber Company was the third in 37 minutes.

At 10:36 Friday night the department was called to Al's Service Station at the Talmage road intersection where gasoline fumes were ignited by another water heater pilot light, while the grease rack was being cleaned.

Saturday morning the department was called to the Safeway parking lot where a parked car was on fire.

Opening of the coastal streams on October 1 to salmon and grilse fishing has been announced by Bill Harman, president of the coast gun club.

Ukiah Boy Scouts Go Into Action For Funds

GRAND AIR TOUR PLANS COMPLETED

Art Schilder, president of Redwood Empire Association Aviation Unit, today announced that arrangements for entertainment of fliers on the grand air tour of the empire on September 10 to 12 have been completed by Frank Hoberg of Lake county, chairman of the arrangements committee.

The flight, which is limited to 50 planes, will leave the Napa county airport at 7:30 a.m. Friday, September 10, for the Paul Hoberg field in Lake county and will breakfast at Hoberg's. Taking to the air again the fliers will land at Mendocino county airport at Little River near Fort Bragg. There the local branch of the Owners and Pilots Association will be hosts at a picnic lunch at Van Damme state park.

At Eureka, the first night's stop, the flight will be guests of the Eureka Junior Chamber of Commerce on a tour of the Eureka Redwood aPrk and will be entertained by civic organizations. Saturday the itinerary includes a morning flight to the Del Norte county airport near Crescent City and lunch and then to the Grants Pass municipal airport, attendance at an air show, a cocktail party and midget auto races.

Flying to Rohnerville airport near Fortuna Sunday morning, the flight will be guests at a barbecue lunch and will take off to participate in Aviation Day at the California state fair, where it will land at the Sacramento Sky Ranch.

Fliers intending to join the flight should immediately register at the offices of the Redwood Empire Association, 85 Post street, San Frandisco.

Queen Contestants Asked To Register

Registrations are now in order for contestants in the Vintage Centennial Queen race. The contest starts on September 7 and the director of Guller Productions, which will stage the Calavacade, will be here to instruct the entrants on rules and regulations.

Paul Sutterley, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, would like to have the list of contestants complete by the time he arrives, and asks that all young ladies who wish to enter the race, telephone him at 77 and give their names and addresses as soon as possible.

He warns that Willits may have entrants in connection with Willits Rotary Club's part in the Cavalcade and that competition may be more than city-wide. He hopes Ukiah's own young women will rise and shine and not let them run away with the Centennial honor.

Two Suicides Mystery Men

Nothing Found To Identify Pair Dead By Own Hands

Apparently Sheriff Broaddus has a second mystery death among his records which may remain as unsolved.

More than a month ago a man was pulled from the ocean not far from Fort Bragg, an apparent suicide who had used his own belt to strap a large stone to his wrist before taking the fatal plunge. All efforts to identify the man were without results and the body has been burid by the county.

August 14 Laurie Markula and Lester Hollenbeck of Fort Bragg, while hunting in the wilds 19 miles west of Ukiah, came upon the remains of a man hanging to a tree, apparently dead for several months.

Although his suitcase was nearby there was nothing which constituted a clue to the man's identity and the only word which in any way indicates the time when the suicide took place has come from Ross Mayfield, a mill owner near Orr Springs.

Mr. Mayfield saw a man of about the same description last May. He was carrying a dark suitcase over his shoulder to which was attached a rope. It was about a mile west of the mill that the body remains were found. Mayfield said he wondered at the time where the man was going.

John Edw. Palmer Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for John Edward Palmer, a native of Ukiah, will be held Tuesday, August 31, from Sorenson Brothers Mortuary at Hayward at 1:30 p.m., and followed by services in the Boonville church at 2 o'clock Wednesday, September 1, with the Eversole Mortuary of Ukiah in charge.

Mr. Palmer died at his home in Hayward on August 29, where he had bee na rsident during the past five years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jessie Robinson Palmer, to whom he was married April 4, 1932, and their sons John Blaine Palmer and William R. Palmer, both of Hayward. Rodney Palmer of Sherman Oaks is his brother, and he was the so nof the late John B. Palmer and Mrs. Sadalee. He had been a resident of Ukiah, Boonville and Hayward, and was a member of the Boonville lodge of Odd Fellows.

NEW PLUMBER FOR COHEN

Bob Dawson of Berkeley is now working for Dan Cohen as plumber. Dawson arrived from Berkeley about 10 days ago. His wife and five children will remain behind until he finds a suitable place to live in.

Scouts Open Funds Drive

The Sonoma-Mendocino Scout Council's drive for funds to operate during 1949 will start this Wednesday night at 7 o'clock at a meeting of the executive committee of the drive at the Maple Cafe The general solicitatioon campaign will begin on September 15 here in Ukiah and Tom Poulos, finance chairman for the district, announced that the goal this year is $41,753 for the two counties.

This amount of money will make it possible to add two new men to the council professional staff, one in Sonoma county and a second man in Mendocino county, to live on the coast.

An actual survey shows that by 1953 there will be 10,120 boys of the scouting age in the council area.

Sometime this week Scouts and cub scouts of Ukiah will distribute a small brochure, door to door, depicting the need for more troops, manpower and money.

Thief Given 30 Days For Suitcase Theft

For lifting a suitcase from the Greyhound station on August 24, Clyde F. Phillips is serving 30 days in the county jail.

The suitcase belonged to Thomas Choate of Boonville, who was here with his two young sons, enroute to Lebanon, Oregon. The theft was committed around 10 o'clock in the morning and was not discovered until some time afterwards. By 3:30 Phillips was in the city jail and the suitcase was in the hands of the city police department, Chief of Police Viarengo and Officer Moore discovering Phillips near the Bell packing sheds, asleep with the stolen property as a pillow.

Coast Has Spotlight In Mendocino Booth

By Gay Tucker Neep

For the first time since Mendocino has had an exhibit at the state fair in Sacramento the coast section of this big county will be featured.

Central place is given in the county's booth to a huge oil painting of the Noyo river breakwater, with boats coming into the shelter. The big picture is 8x36 feet, and painted in oils on plywood. Panels of the picture are 4x9 feet and the eight pieces of plywood were fitted together Monday on a frame erected along the north side and rear section of the county's booth.

Mendocino County Agricultural Commissioner Norman G. Buhn of Ukiah superintended the placing of the picture, which is the work of Mrs. Neva Ellingsworth of Fort Bragg and is an actual view as it was photographed first. From the photograph Mrs. Ellingworth made a small painting and from this she made the larger picture.

Mrs. Ellingworth is a fisherwoman as well as an artist. She owns one of the Fort Bragg fishing boats, a picturesque craft with blue sail on which is painted a swordfish. She lives in a houseboat. Some of her work will be shown in the art section of Ukiah's Centennial exhibit, it is understood.

Part of the rugged coast line of the county is in the picture with the breakwater, and as a background for this and the blue water of the Pacific ocean is a sunset in all its glory of color. The panorama is most striking.

Above and at the sides of the picture fishing nets with glass floats are draped. The space before it is a beach scene with a fisherman's small skiff, nets, crab pots and other fishing gear.

The south end of the booth has a bit of green woods and a stream with rocks in it. Between this and the beached boat will be vegetables and fruits of the coast section.

Mr. Buhn and his crew worked the first of the week to get the booth in readiness for the opening today, September 2, of the state fair in Sacramento. Framework was built by Grover C. Neep of Ukiah. Others aiding in placing the picture and other parts of the exhibit were John Drucker of Fort Bragg, coast horticulturist; Dick Buhn of Ukiah, young son of the commissioner, and a Sacramento man, David Applegate, brother of Mrs. Norman G. Buhn, Jr., of the capital city.

The booth is in the same section of the Agricultural building as last year and the panorama of ocean and sunset is like a vista when seen from the doorway on the opposite side. The picture was sponsored by the Fort Bragg Chamber of Commerce and six fishing companies of the Mendocino county coast.

The fruits and vegetables which go to make up the remainder of the exhibit were gathered by Charles H. Luce of Ukiah. The green background is made of native trees and shrubs from the coast.

RETIRED PUBLISHER DIES IN HOSPITAL

A. C. (Bert) Hammond, retired Willits publisher, died early Thursday morning in Howard Memorial Hospital following an operation performed August 29 from which it was believed he would recover until his condition worsened in the night and he succumbed at 2:15 a.m.

ALBERT C. HAMMOND

Mr. Hammond, born October 20, 1882, in Minneapolis, Minn., came to Willits in 1922 and was manager of the Willits News for the late Harry Elliott. He purchased the paper in 1928. He had been a printer for 50 years and was employed on the San Francisco Chronicle and San Francisco Shopping News before he came to Mendocino county.

He was a past regional director of Redwood Empire Association and retired last year as president of the Redwood Empire unit of California Newspaper Publishers' Association. He had a wide circle of friends in the news and printing industry by whom he was held in high esteem.

Also mourning his passing are hosts of friends in Willits.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl Hammond, to whom he was married in 1906, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Anderson of Berkeley. In December, 1947, Mr Hammond sold the Willits News to Troy Maness and retired from active business.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Methodist church in Willits at 1 p.m. Saturday and followed by columbarium services in Chapel of the Chimes in Santa Rosa where the body will be cremated.

Mendocino State Hospital Shows Arts, Crafts

MENDOCINO STATE HOSPITAL entered this booth, which shows to some extent how occupational therapeutics are employed in the treatment of some patients and the results of the treatment are shown in he types and class of work produced by the patients.

Unemployment insurance claims filed in the Ukiah department of employment office for the week ending August 19 totaled 112.

Redwood Valley-Calpella Farm Center

IN THE 200-SQUARE-FOOT BOOTHS the capital award was given to this rustic scene by the Redwood Valley-Calpella Farm Center, a composite picture of rural life enhanced by a glowing blacksmith forge and anvil set in an appropriate background.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bickford were last Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Coleman of Boonville.

From our EARLY FILES

10, 20, 30, 40, 50 YEARS AGO

TEN YEARS AGO
Sept. 2, 1938

Walter F. Dexter, superintendent of public instruction, to whom the state has just given a big majority vote over both his opponents, will be the principal speaker at the teachers institute in Ukiah, September 13, 14, 15.

H. J. June of Anderson valley was given a highly complimentary vote by the people of his district in his candidacy for justice of the peace, though unopposed for the office. Mr. June is chairman of the board of directors of the Mendocino County Fair and Apple Show.

In the election just held Superior Judge W. D. L. Held received a majority of 1549 over James Hurley, his only opponent. E. L. Williams led the field of five for re-election to the office of sheriff and James E. Busch, incumbent, was high man over Wayne Burke and George Faraday.

Ukiah soil conservation directors report that diversion ditches designed to carry off the thousands of tons of water that normally spread over the orchard and vineyard of the L. G. Younce property near Hopland are being planned by the conservation service.

L. C. Starr, agricultural teacher of the Willits high school, lay unconscious beside his car near the summit between Willits and Ukiah from 4 o'clock Sunday night until 4 o'clock Monday morning, when he was able to crawl to the highway for help. Returning to Willits, Starr's car had gone off the grade.

The hop picking machine brought to the Horst ranch south of Talmage is proving very satisfactory, according to Walter Witherell, ranch superintendent, who says that 20,000 pounds of hops are being put through in nine hours.

Glenn Vaughn of Potter Valley was recovering from injuries which a fractious horse inflicted when he ran away with the hay rake.

I. C. Burke of Boonville was taken to Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco Sunday for treatment.

The family of Ned Westover of Reno was robbed of their cash in hand while ensconced in sleeping bags five miles north of Willits. They claim they were visited by two middle-aged men.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Sept. 8, 1928

Cecil Wright, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright of Ukiah, was killed and subsequently burned in an accident Thursday evening when a plane piloted by Robert Stambaugh crashed and caught fire near the Russian river, two miles south of town on the Tom Ferrance ranch. Stambaugh made his escape from the plane, but is suffering from concussion of the brain, burns and cuts and bruises. The Wright boy had entered the plane as a passenger, for a ride of the valley, and had circled and turned back when something went wrong with the controls and the machine crashed from an elevation of 300 feet.

The assignees of the Johnson brothers of Round valley have sold the Williams valley ranch four miles east of Covelo to W. G. Collins of Fort Bragg for $18,000. This is a 24,000-acre sheep ranch. What is known as the Philip Duell ranch, two miles from Covelo, has also been sold to C. E. Firebaugh for $13,000. This ranch is of 114 acres and contains some of the best land in the valley.

A triangular section, with Laytonville, Dos Rios and Farley as the points, has been burned over this week, in all about 15,000 acres. This includes the Harrison, Vassar, Helm, Bell and Hughes ranches, with the greatest loss being feed and line fences.

The Kandy Korner at Covelo has changed hands, with George Ure and his brother taking over the management and will continue the popular restaurant services.

The old Palace Hotel at Willits is being remodeled for use as a service station by Howard & Dowser.

Peter Underhill, who was injured at the Ukiah rodeo when thrown from an automobile, has made a remarkable recovery, though he will not be able to return to work for several months. A critical skull injury rendered him unconscious for several weeks and for months he hovered between life and death.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Sept. 6, 1918

Deputy Clerk Mark Carpenter was badly hurt yesterday when his horse dragged him some distance while enroute from Brown Lynch's ranch to Eden valley. In dismounting, Carpenter's spur caught in the latigo and the horse began to buck and run, dragging Carpenter until the leather broke and set him free.

Reynolds Yates, a Ukiah boy, has been promoted to corporal and writes his sister, Mrs. McGarvey, that he is on his way to Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caughey are in San Francisco to meet their son Reginald, who is returning from training camp in Kentucky.

Considerable excitment was created when three soldier convicts from Alcatraz Island attempted to make their escape by scaling the stockade fence at the rear of the asylum building. An attendant who interfered was beaten and others who came to his rescue had a hard fight with the men before they were subdued.

The trouble which had been brewing at the cannery over the scale paid for snapping beans came to a head Tuesday when a petition was circulated asking for an advance of 5 cents a box. A hearing was had before Louis Cunningham and an advance of 2½ cents per box offered and the workers went back to their jobs. It was rumored that there was trouble in Lake county, due to I.W.W. agitation.

Will Finley, wellknown blacksmith at Irmulco, died Tuesday morning at St. Luke's Hospital, San Francisco, where he was taken last week for an operation, following a brief illness and examination by Willits physicians.

Burnam Heryford, former principal of the Hopland grammar school, is now somewhere in France.

A. P. Ornbaun and Henry Crispin of Ornbaun valley were in Ukiah last week, bringing in a man who had entered Crispin's mountain cabin and helped himself to everything in sight. The two men tracked the burglar and found him a short distance from the cabin.

Ladies of the Presbyterian Society, Ukiah, are devoting one or more days each week to snapping beans at the local cannery and are to devote the proceeds to the use of the church.

FORTY YEARS AGO
Aug. 28, 1908

A few days ago two of Laytonville's young women had a rough and tumble fight on the street of that little burg. Generally it is wine and women that cause strife, but on this occasion it was a man—a stunning Apollo from Covelo, who appears to have been trifling with both the girls. The scrap was not conducted according to any rules and after some pulling and scratching one of the principals threw sand into the other's face and then they rolled on the ground. Some men then took sides and fought it out and were arrested for disturbing the peace. Deputy District Attorney Jenkins went up Friday to prosecute the case and the trial was held Saturday. The jury disagreed and the matter was dismissed.

Word comes from Potter valley that because of the poor price there will be few hops picked there this summer.

Warren Brown paid a $10 fine this week for allowing a minor to play the nickle-in-the-slot machine. The young fellow swore he was 21 when questioned by Brown. He was not, however, and Brown paid the fine without protest.

Ira Flocker, a government land inspector, has been in Ukiah this week digging into some fraudulent land entries. Some of the homesteaders who took up land have not been keeping faith with the government and some five or six fraudulent claimants have been cited to appear and explain.

There are now only two people in the county jail—a white woman and an Indian. This sets a record and is forcing Billy Gibson, the gardener, to get out and work on the lawn himself.

The Fast Freight leaves Covelo every Monday morning and arrives at Willits Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Returning, it will leave Willits at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday and arrives at Covelo at 6 o'clock Wednesday. By going this way you do not have to travel at night.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
Sept. 9, 1898

Political lightning struck Willits Saturday and from now on we can expect to see the storm rage until the evening of November 8.

J. F. Muir, an old and well-known resident of the county, died suddenly Tuesday at Potter Valley where he had lived for the past year. He had just eaten a hearty meal and as he arose from the table, fell back dead.

J. H. Hogshead, the popular teacher of the Albion school, will leave for the east to resume his studies in medicine.

Junior Horsemen Stage Napa Show

Success of the all-junior horse show in Napa last Sunday has spurred plans of Ukiah Riding Club members to have a junior show here as soon as possible. Among the 87 boys and girls in the Napa contest were Judy and Myrna Bingham of Ukiah who came home with a variety of ribbons, but none this time in firsts.

Among the 87, Judy won a special award as best dressed rider and for horsemanship. She also won a third in English class for youngsters under 12, and it was the second time in her life she'd sat an English saddle.

Myrna, her older sister, brought back a second in the junior trail class, and took second and third in hands and seat class. The Binghams spent Saturday night in Vallejo with Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mitchell and went with them to the show in Napa Sunday.

The boys and girls gave an outstanding show, which was well managed and well judged without any adult aid, they said.

MRS. DAVIS VISITS HERE

Mrs. Alling Davis, who moved to Buckingham Park in Lake county from Ukiah in the spring, was a visitor here on Tuesday. Her daughter, Mrs. Carl May, accompanied her. They lunched with Mrs. E. W. Dutton and visited other friends during the day.

Former Walt Disney Artist Would Not Exchange Ukiah For All Of Hollywood

By Berniece Batterton

Mrs. Lee White's success story began with an ad in a Los Angeles newspaper. She had studied commercial art, the depression was here, she needed the job advertised in Walt Disney's Hollywood studio. At $14 a week.

There was a discouraging long line of would-be artists who also wanted the job. When she got to the interviewer, who seemed sympathetic, she broke her pencil filling out her application and had to go back to her car for another. The line was still long and she had to wait her turn again. Back at the window, the interviewer had changed—she found a cold-hearted minx who said they weren't interested in her application.

On the theory that the squeaking wheel gets the most grease, she called an aunt who Knew People and had Influence. Sure enough, she knew a director in the Disney studio. She called him. Mrs. White got the job.

For three and a half years she drew Snow Whites and dwarfs, Bambis and Fantasia creatures. She earned considerably more than $14 a week. She drew whimsical little girls you'd like to hug, appealing forest creatures and winsome babies.

No More Hollywood

But she wouldn't go back to Hollywood for anything on earth. She thinks her own nine-months old daughter, Victoria, and Ukiah and the very attractive home they're completing is heart's desire enough for any woman. She's sophisticated to the point of wholesome simplicity.

At a new, slanted north window she models winsome little girls you'd like to hug—delicate little Dresden-like figures in ceramics with exquisite detail—cute braids and bashful expressions. Her forte, decidedly, is children. She painted the portrait of little Leslie Norgard, daughter of the Sterling Norgards, with which they are greatly pleased.

She has designed the float to be entered in the Vintage Centennial parade by the Redwood Art and Music Center, and they are more than pleased. We won't spoil a surprise by describing it, but you can expect to see Walt Disney whimsicality in its structure, which will represent music and art.

Has Illustrated Book

She has just completed illustrations for a child's book, Story Book Doll Rhymes soon to be published. Her illustrations represent the famous Nancy Ann Abbott story book dolls being collected all over the country.

In the two years the Whites have lived in Ukiah (where her husband is associated in the insurance business with E. L. Albertson) they have re-built a small home at the west end of Standley street overlooking the city, into a mighty attractive dwelling. You know an artist has been at work. They've used bold color with good taste and finesse. The entire house, from studio to kitchen has an exhilarating atmosphere of bright gaiety.

Lots of bookshelves line the living room in which two walls are panelled in knotty pine stained in cherry tones. The other walls are done in green plaid wall paper. The kitchen is unusually inviting in rose-decked wall paper and deep turquoise woodwork.

On shelves in the living room, among some fine ceramic pieces by other artists, are some of the figures she will exhibit in the Vintage Centennial art show for which she heads the committee on decoration, as well as the parade float.

The Caspar Lumber Company Store, damaged by fire in March, 1947, will reopen on original site September 7.

WILLITS NEWS

WILLITS, Sept. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Worth Kern from Van Nuys stopped overnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cress. The Kerns are touring the United States as part of their 3-month honeymoon.

Across the way, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herston Cress, is P. E. Allen from Hollister. Mr. Allen is Elise's father.

Recent visitors at the Dan and Charles Zanella residences were Mrs. Gino Beneditti, Mr. and Mrs. John Gambetta and son, Mrs. B. Musante and daughter Claudia, all of San Francico.

Mrs. Rose Steele has moved to Sonoma.

Phil Hammond, former owner and publisher of the Willits News, underwent surgery at the Howard Memorial Hospital this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foord returned from their vacation a couple of days early, as Delberta became ill. However, they did enjoy seeing Yellowstone, Jackson Hole National Park, Wyoming, Bryce and Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam before their plans were interrupted.

Tanned and looking extremely fit after a 2-week vacation in the southern part of the state are Misses Virginia White, Joyce Hurley and Gaye Trappin. They went to Los Angeles by bus. They visited relatives there and at Glendale and Santa Cruz.

The fire department is still on their between-4-and-5 p.m. schedule. On the 27th they responded to a call at approximately 4:45, to extinguish a grass fire behind the home of Vale Specht. On the 28th the call came at 4:30 to the Richardson's mill on the Fort Bragg road. It also was a grass fire, quickly brought under control.

August 28 was the date of the Methodist Guild barbecue. Held at the E. H. Maize, Sr., ranch with potluck dinner, a weiner roast, homemade ice cream and community sing around the campfire, it was declared a success by the 25 couples attending.

Gabriel Vidal and James Frank, Indians recently involved in an exchange of harsh words and thrusts of a butcherknife, found justice still prevails. Frank, in whose forearm the knife was stuck, was fined $15. Vidal is thinking it over for 30 days in the county jail.

Elmer Tillman who on August 22 was arrested for drunk driving, driving without his license on his person and without plates on the vehicle, has entered a plea of not guilty. His trial is set for September 22 at 2 o'clock. He is at liberty on $250 bail.

Mrs. George Butler, Redwood Empire district president of the Federated Business & Professional Women's Clubs, was guest speaker and honored guest of the Willits Club recently. Mrs. Butler spoke of the ability and influence of women in the world and cited examples of their achievements and closed with some complimentary remarks about the local club. With the meeting being held during Fire Prevention Week, Mrs. Butler shared honors with Mr. Soto of the state division of forestry, who informed the group on fire prevention and the high cost of carelessness. Following the speakers and a short business meeting with President Pat Brewer presiding, all present enjoyed an outdoor picnic at the home of Rene Redd, featuring spaghetti, green salad and barbecued wieners. With the whole affair under the direction of the health committee, Rene Redd and Virginia Ciancio, with Annabell Anker and Alma Albee assisting, it was a success. However, no one foresaw the table decorations, a miniature of the Howard Hospital as a centerpiece and individual minute patient charts as place cards.

With Monday, September 6, a holiday, there will be no meeting of the Willits Rotary Club. That was one of the things announced at the meeting Monday at Carson Inn with President Russell Ells presiding. Speaker for the day was Irving Brazier, Ukiah attorney, who spoke on wills, mentioning some of the difficulties involved when none are left, when they are made incorrectly, and the different ways they can be broken.

Willits has been receiving the somewhat 2-sided publicity from the Knave's column. If you haven't heard of it, (the column or the publicity) don't feel like the odd man. Evidently the Knave doesn't read Willits literature either for he still spells it Willitts, despite all that has been written on the subject.

Visiting old friends in Willits were Mrs. Isabella Haskett, her daughter Margaret and her granddaughter of Santa Rosa.

The E. E. Gardiner family motored to Puente over the weekend with the purpose of visiting acquaintances and friends left behind by their move to Willits, and to bring back with them their two pet donkeys. However, since last seen by the Gardiners, Abe and Lize had grown lonely too. Consequently the Gardiners returned with three donkeys, Abe, Liza, and little Bambi, aged 8 days.

JAMES P. SAMSOE ACCIDENT VICTIM

Redwood Valley Man Struck By Car While Waiting For Son

James Peter Samsoe, a long-time resident of Redwood valley, was killed in a highway accident at about 5:45 Thursday morning, September 2.

The accident occurred opposite the Redwood Valley Grange hall and only a short distance from Mr. Samsoe's home as he waited for his son, Lawrence and wife, who were to take him with them on a picnic to Shively, in Humboldt county. He was struck by the car driven by John L. Williams, who was enroute to his employment at the Rochester ranch, a mile north of Grange hall.

Deputy Sheriff Alvin Reynolds took charge of the investigation for Coroner B. G. Broaddus and to him Mr. Williams said Mr. Samsoe had stepped from the shadow of the brush which grows to the edge of the road. Traveling at about 30 miles an hour, Williams tried to stop, but was too close. The impact of the car threw Mr. Samsoe to the road and the car came to a stop about 12 feet from the point of impact.

Finding that Mr. Samsoe was badly hurt, Williams placed him in his car and started for Calpella where he could find a telephone at that hour and called the Ukiah ambulance from the Calpella Plywood mill. Samsoe was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Of the picnic trip into Humboldt county, Reynolds was told that on a previous occasion, a year ago Mr. Samsoe had agreed to meet his son and wife at Calpella, to save them the trip into Redwood valley. At that time they failed to see him and went to his home and then doubled back. It was his purpose at this time to meet them in the front of Grange hall and it is presumed that he mistook Mr. Williams' car to be that of his son.

When Lawrence and Mrs. Samsoe and Ples Copsey, who was accompanying them on the trip, passed through Calpella they saw the ambulance there and stopped to investigate. Learning that someone from the valley had been hit by a car, Mr. Samsoe looked into the ambulance and saw his father.

The body is at the Eversole Mortuary and the funeral will be held from there at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, with Elbert Holland officiating.

Boston Artist Continues Painting Career While Helping Build Postwar Business

She's a Boston artist and she helps to run an automobile wrecking yard. She paints in vigorous color and bold technique and she knows all about second-hand carburetors and distributors.

She is Mrs. L. C. McNaught and her signature "Valryn" is well known in the commercial art field. During the war she and her husband lived in Napa where she taught and painted while he worked at war production in Mare Island Navy Yard. Three years ago they came to Ukiah and established their business on North Highway.

There's a quiet country home shaded by big trees, with a studio, in their future, but just now they're making the best of a trailer home and being exceptionally cheerful about it. Mrs. McNaught keeps the books and helps with sales when business is rushing.

Work Is Versatile

Her work is characterized by versatility. In contrast to the strong lines and bold colors of her oils, she has a series of pastel portraits of Hollywood stars she did before her marriage when she lived in Alhambra. She painted them for the theater marquee cards that preceded photo art. She also did color plates for a lithograph company and she almost illustrated a book for a vivisectionist organization.

Why she didn't is very understandable. She was invited to visit the laboratory and talk over a handsome contract for the illustrations. At the door, the director warned her not to be squeamish. She wanted the contract and resolved on a courageous approach until he explained the illustrations they wanted, in quantity, too, were cut-up portions of human cadavers. She left without inspecting his display. And without the contract, of course.

Vintage Harvest Oil

For the Vintage Centennial art show she is completing an oil on the vintage harvest theme. The central figure is a handsome young peasant woman with strong, pleasant features, holding an overflowing basket of grapes on her shoulder. The background is Ukiah valley's vineyards and bordering hills.

She also expects to display some exquisite hand-painted textiles. Floral designs in her own realistic technique are applied on the finest of Irish linen. Napkins and tablecloths are fringed, and sometimes hemstitched, and they have the look of fine European handcrafts.

She has no patience with the abstractionists and surrealists. She sees natural beauty in everything from a still life composition to a tree silhouetted against the sky, and she paints it as she sees it—not with the distortion of a morbid imagination.

Her personality is refreshing and her Boston accent is delightful. She looks forward to working with the Redwood Empire Art and Music Center and she hopes sketching classes will eb organized and opportunity will be created for artists to meet and talk over their mutual interests.

Carol Brown And Marston Gillette Are Honeymooning In Carmel-By-The-Sea

Radiant was the word for Carol Brown and F. Marston Gillette when they left the altar of Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon as Mr. and Mrs. Gillette. It was as pretty a summer wedding as Ukiah has seen this year.

The altar was decorated with baskets of tall yellow gladioli and white delphinium against a background of greenery. Robert York, who is becoming one of Ukiah's most popular vocalists, sang O Promise Me, and then Mrs. Mildred Oxford at the organ began the wedding march.

In a sheer yellow eyelet dress with full skirt, ankle length, and with a bouquet and coronet of yellow daisies, the bride's sister, Donna Brown, as maid of honor, led the way to the altar where Alden Gillette, brother of the groom, waited with the benedict. Both young men wore carnation bouttoniers.

Ballerina Frock

Gowned in crisp, sheer white eyelet organdie, with a bouffant ballerina skirt and slim basque bodice and short sleeves, the bride walked down the aisle in the presence of friends and relatives who have known her all her life as one of Redwood Valley's most charming and gifted girls. It was only last spring that they attended her graduation from Ukiah High school at which she was already wearing Marston's ring. She wore a coronet of stephanotis and carried a bouquet of white gladiola blossoms.

The Rev. Coyne Gifford performed the double ring marriage service before the altar on which the sun slanted through stained glass windows to spotlight the wedding party. The bride's mother, Mrs. John Snider of Redwood Valley, was attired in a tailored dress of royal blue crepe with which she wore black hat and accessories and carnation corsage. Mrs. H. C. Gillette, mother of the groom, wore powder blue with accessories of white and white carnations.

Clubhouse Reception

At a reception in the municipal clubhouse the newly weds greeted their friends, and Donna Brown caught her sister's bouquet when they left to prepare fo rtheir honey moon trip to Carmel. The clubhouse was decorated in huckleberry shrubs with gladiolas and old-fashioned bouquets.

For her going-away journey, the new Mrs. Gillette wore a gray suit with white accessories and carried a black coat. Her corsage was red and white carnations. The young people will return at the end of a week and leave here about September 6 to live at 1245 North Commercial street in Stockton where the groom will enter College of the Pacific.

Afternoon Rites Unite Patricia Combs And Leland Lancaster, Jr., On Sunday

Patricia Ann Combs and Leland Stanford Lancaster, Jr., met at the altar in St. Mary's Catholic church Sunday afternoon and pledged their troth. The Rev. Fr. Roger Anderson performed the double ring ceremony by candlelight. Bouquets of white stock and delphinium decorated the church.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was her matron of honor, Mrs. Tom Amsler of Talmage, while Tom Amsler awaited the wedding party at the altar with the benedict and performed best man duties.

Attired in a smart, white street-length suit with a small white hat and carrying a bouquet of orchid and white with loops of satin ribbon, the bride made the processional march to the altar on the arm of her father, W. A. Combs of North Highway.

Mrs. Amsler wore a pale yellow wool suit, a small yellow hat and carried a matching bouquet. The bride's mother was attired in a black and white print afternoon dress with black accessories and the groom's mother, Mrs. Leland S. Lancaster, Sr., wore a gardenia corsage on a navy blue ensemble.

Retracing their way up the aisle arm in arm to the church door, the young couple paused on the church steps for photographs and then the wedding party motored to Southworth's Inn on North highway where a reception was held for 100 friends and relatives.

After the cake was cut and congratulations received the newlyweds left by automobile for the Crater Lake region in Oregon. When they return they will establish a home in Ukiah where the benedict is employed by P.G.&E. Company.

The Lancaster family moved to Ukiah from Watsonville, and live on the Robert O'Dell ranch. The Combs are recent comers from Pasadena where Patricia attended schools and graduated from Pasadena City College. Leland was in the airforce during the war and served in the Burma and India areas.

On Saturday evening, August 28, members of Ukiah Royal Arch Chapter F.&A.M. entertained King Solomon's Council Royal and Select Masters by holding a barbecue dinner at the state employees' picnic grounds on Mill creek. Their wives were also among the guests.

Alex R. Thomas, Jr., Reveals He Will Marry Gabriel Ann Hall In Autumn

Members of the Twenty-Thirty club learned last week that one of their members, who is one of Ukiah's most popular and eligible young men, will soon join the ranks of the benedicts.

Alex R. Thomas, Jr., revealed informallly that sometime in the fall he will marry Gabriel Ann Hall of San Francisco. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall who have not yet made a formal announcement of the betrothal but are expected to do so very soon.

The groom elect is the son of Mrs. Alex R. Thomas, Sr., of River Road. His father, who died more than a year ago, was a postmaster in Ukiah in the 1930's and owned extensive ranch and packing industry properties in the valley which his son now operates.

The bride-to-be was a visitor in the Thomas home last week when she came from San Francisco with her fiance's sisters, Mrs. Philip Gannon and Catherine Thomas to visit their mother.

Wedding plans including the date were not disclosed by the prospective groom but it is understood the nuptials will take place in the early fall and that the young couple will live in Ukiah.

Mrs. Gannon, who was Eloise Thomas, has recently moved to Menlo Park and her sister, Catherine, is now employed in the office of the United States Veterans Administration.

Two bridal showers preceded the nuptials. Mrs. Marshall complimented the bride with a shower in her Potter Valley home on Friday night where many beautiful gifts were bestowed by a large group of friends. On Sunday night Mrs. Hunter and her daughter June were hostesses at their Ukiah home.

Gladiolas and zinnias decorated the living room for the party at which the bride and groom again opened many gifts for their new apartment home. A bride's cake topped with love birds holding a double ring symbol centered the refreshment table. A decorated table held the gifts.

The guest list also included Janet and Helen Eddie, Tilda Guntley, Mrs. Lee Knighten, Mrs. Floyd Meyer, and Mrs. Thomas Harper, all of Potter Valley. Also Milo Kaine, Leland Brooks, Mrs. Louis Martinelli, Mrs. Wiley Brooks and Bill Rucker, all of Ukiah.

Teachers Go To Summer School In Mendocino Redwoods

Teachers Work, Play At Woodlands Camp

By Berniece Batterton

No sympathy need be extended to teachers who have been going to school at the Teachers' Workshop in Mendocino Woodlands for the past two weeks. They've had a wonderful time in a setting of secluded beauty in the redwoods and they want to continue the unique annual workshop, of which this is the second.

The threat exists that the State Division of Forestry will unload its responsibility for the $1,000,000 federally-built camps, of which there are three in the area, and that Mendocino county will find itself deprived of this beautiful and unusual summer recreation center.

The threat prompted County School Superintendent John W. Taylor to sound a warning this week that action should be taken to guarantee the continued use of the resort to the people of this county, and to that end he sponsored a visit from the board of supervisors early last week. He also invited a Journal reporter and cameraman to visit during the workshop session in order to describe to those unfamiliar with the place, its unique and special features as a summer recreation spot.

Built For Permanency

The pictures which accompany this article tell their own story of its beauty. Built during the later years of the depression, nothing was spared by the federal W.P.A. to create lasting beauty of design and construction in the buildings.

There are three separate camps along Big River, of which Woodlands is the largest. Timber Tall, with a concrete swimming pool has been used this summer for a Chinese orphanage summer camp by the Chung May home of El Cerrito. Camp Sidney Peixotto is leased by Columbia Park Camp of San Francisco and other organizations for boys.

There are 46 single and double cabins at Mendocino Woodlands; built in secluded spots around a central dining hall and kitchen, a separate recreation hall, outdoor amphitheater, a volley-ball court and a river swimming pool.

Paul Anderson of Dos Rios and his wife, a Dos Rios teacher, both of whom lived at The Forks until recently, pointed out the unusual craftsmanship in construction and design of the buildings. They are rustic, of peasant Europe design, with split shake roofs, beautifully made stone fireplaces, hand-wrought iron hinges and other hardware. Huge peeled log beams are bolted to the framework for sturdy construction.

Individual Fireplaces

Each cabin has a fireplace, hooded chimney and ornamental portico. They provide no housekeeping for the kitchen and dining room are arranged to serve campers cafeteria style. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are in charge of the kitchen and comment on their excellent cuisine was enthusiastic.

Burnam Heryford and George Dietterle of the county school superintendent's staff were the guides who took us to visit classrooms where some of the best instructors obtainable from the state department of education and state colleges were conducting classes for the 110 teachers present.

A room full of audio-visual equipment was so popular the visiting teachers had to be coaxed out of it at night. Dr. Ralph Eckert's illustrated lectures on Family Life Education were proving one of the most popular of the session. Family strains and tensions are graphically revealed in dramatized moving pictures, and solutions to problems of family relationships are suggested. On Thursday night parents of the town of Mendocino were invited out to an evening program on human development.

Classes Are Informal

Teachers go to classes in slacks and sweaters while children of some play outside and listen for the lunch gong. Dr. Robert B. Rhodes of San Jose State College, elementary science department, brought his family and a pet baby squirrel they'd rescued. It was thriving on food from a medicine dropper.

A couple of newlyweds (both in their 50's) were honeymooning while they go to school. They are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Milton, of Alameda who will teach at Piercy in the fall. There's a colony of beavers on the river who have taught them something about dam building. All high school and elementary principals of the county visited on Tuesday and William Chessall of Ukiah stayed over until camp broke on Friday.

Even recreation in the evenings had an educational theme. One evening's entertainment was a forum on World Understanding Through Cultural Education. There was folk dancing and singing games. An amateur night was arranged by Mrs. Nelmes (Ethel) Smith of Ukiah elementary school. A card party entertained them one one evening and the next they saw the 'teacher' feature movie, Anna And The King Of Siam.

A film on sex education was presented last week by Dr. Eckert who is chief of the Bureau of Parent Education for the State Department of Education. He showed the film Human Growth which was reviewed in Life magazine recently and accompanied it with an absorbing lecture. A bonfire and song festival was enjoyed the next evening.

Teachers Enthusiastic

Teachers declared they have learned more at the Woodlands in two weeks than in an entire session of summer school. The fact that outstanding instructors were available and there are no outside distractions; that their group interests were centered on a common objective all aided learning. The informal atmosphere of the camp was relaxing.

Mr. Taylor and his staff, which also includes Robert Harmon, Mrs. Margaret Byrnes, Elmer Pelham, Mrs. Mable Morrison and Pauline Chase, secretary; arranged and organized the workshop. Everything from mattresses to classroom chairs and cooking equipment had to be taken in.

There are other teacher workshops in the state, but none as far as can be determined, which combine the unique features of camping in the woods with classes, committee assignments and research projects.

Three Ukiah high school boys kept the camp shipshape, filled the gasoline powered electric light plant and kept it running and generall made themselves useful. They are Donald Zeek, Wallace Mitchell and Burnett Tregoning.

Six school girls from Ukiah helped in the cafeteria, including Joyce Gomes, Merna and Patty Lilly, Jeannette Fraser, Lrene Cecchi and Susan Gorman.

The teachers' workshop has been promised the use of the camp for next year and a religious organization, the New Tribes Institute from the east, is taking it over from September to May.

It is hoped that some organization can be found to take permanent control of the property, to protect its uses to public orgonizations, both educational and recreational.

The state division of forestry which administers it on a temporary basis, has no funds for its upkeep and is anxious to place it under other supervision. So far, the State Parks Commission is unable to take any action, Mr. Taylor was informed.

She Was Telephone Manager 51 Years Ago

MINNIE GRACE SMITH, left, operated this switchboard of 1897. Today as Mrs. A. D. Scott, right, of 417 West Standley street, she recalls the early days when the telephone first came to Ukiah.

One Of Ukiah's First Career Women Recalls Lone Switchboard Of 1897

To Mrs. A. D. Scott it doesn't seem such a lotng time ago that Ukiah had only one telephone operator and one small switchboard and she was the sole manager-operator. The local telephone company's recent expansion to 42 operators, 49 toll circuits and three newly installed switchboard sections, invoked for her, memories of 51 years ago when the single switchboard she operated was sufficient for the company's 27 local subscribers.

She was Minnie Grace Smith then, daughter of the John P. Smiths, one of the pioneer families in the valley. As one of Ukiah's first young career women she got the job when her brother, H. B. Smith, was asked by John Lawrence of the San Francisco district to find a local operator in June, 1897.

She recalls that Bernard Saunders of North State street, now a local photographer and son of one of Ukiah's first photographers, was the first night operator. Newt Rogers was the first messenger boy.

Long Distance Arrives

During the two and a half years she worked at the switchboard, a toll circuit was opened to the coast and to Portland and there was great excitement over this modern development. The first toll calls over the new circuit were greetings sent free to coast subscribers. By 1899 when she left to marry A. D. Scott, now county probation officer, the subscribers had increased to 252 and Ukiah had its first telephone directory.

The first exchange occupied a corner of the old postoffice where the Preston Building now stands. In 1898 it was moved to the old Heger building which has now given way to the J. C. Penney store.

In November 1916, when there were about 600 tellephones in service, the company completed its building at Church and School streets. The building was enlarged in 1924 and again in 1928 and by November 1946 there were 2072 telephones in service here. Today, the expansion takes care of an average of 11,000 local calls each day and 1225 toll calls.

"Charter" Subscribers

In December 1933 the company gave an open house reception honoring its living 'charter' subscribers, 20 of whom were still listed in the directory. The complete list of the 27 users is as follows:

N. Anker, drayman; J. H. Barker, hardware; W. A. Thomas, county assessor; Hale McCowen, county clerk; County Hospital; Dr. W. N. More, county phsician; W. Poage, district attorney; Eversole & Templeton, furniture, undertaking; J. A. Gibson, hardware; Grand Hotel; Mendocino State Hospital; O. E. Wilson, Palace Hotel; Alf Pennington, Republican Press; J. B. Sanford, Dispatch Democrat; S.F.&N.P. Ry.; J. R. Johnson and J. H. Smith, sheriff's office; City Market; J. Mannon, Superior court; Western Union Telegraph.

Last week the administrative department of the company moved into a new building on Smith street, marking another milestone in its expansion. There was no celebration for Manager John F. (Jack) Brennan's recent automobile injuries kept him away from the opening.

His talk was much appreciated by all present.

Shower For Mrs. Jamison

Honoring lady-in-waiting, Fern Jamison, Mesdames Grace Day and Joyce Willoughby were hostesses to a group of ladies Wednesday. Present with best wishes for little Jamison-to-be, were Mesdames Peggy Crocker, Madeline Lofling, Berdie Jamison, Doreen Beldon, Betty Lewis, Annamay Curtin and Iris Hart. They enjoyed coffee, cake and jello and admired the diaper nut cups, the paper nightgown napkins and the centerpiece, a depiction of the expected addition hanging on the Jamison family tree. Missing out on all this and the dutch whist that was played, were Mesdames Margaret Gunderson, Irene Hill, Rosetta McAllister, Fern Crady and Inez Schneider., who sent a warm wellcome and appropriate gifts for the wee one.

The local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs held their monthly potluck dinner on August 7 in their hall After dinner they stayed to play whist, hop chung, and have an all around good time.

An informal farewell party was given to Mrs. Margaret Bullock prior to her moving to Garberville. Last Thursday Mesdames Gerry Russel, Verna Hurley, Ruth Woods, and Bobbie Specht took the honoree to Santa Rosa and treated her to a dinner she will long remember.

With Willits Police

Mrs. Dorothy Little of Willits was arrested August 27 by Officer Joe Busby and charged with drunk driving. With her at the time was Jack Bates who, due to her inability to drive while under the cloud, received a minor head injury. At present Mrs. Little is out on $300 bail.

With a hearing scheduled in the near future, Gabriel Vidal and James Frank, Indians, are thinking of explanations to their argument that led to Vidal sticking a butcher knife in the forearm of Frank on August 27.

The man contends he is innocent; the loot was found in his coat pocket. Evidence is strong against him, but his wife stands staunchly by voicing his innocence in a Scotch brogue. The scene of the crime was Brooktrails, the night of the joint roads meeting; teh loot, silverware and glassware belonging to the host. Although inclined to believe the accused not guilty, the public is skeptical as to why the real culprit planted the stuff, as it would have done much to adorn his garage on the south end of Main street.

Willits Horsemen Meet

A business meeting of the Willits Horsemen's Association was held at Leak's hall August 27, with President Louis Zanella presiding Among the things accomplished by the 32 members present was setting September 13 as the date of their roping spree at the rodeo grounds. Women members will fix lunches and all will dig in for a picnic afterwards. An invitation from the Fortuna Women's Riding Cllub was read and accepted. The invitation was for the women of the Willits club to bring their charter and other necessary material to assist the newly formed club in becoming orgaized. With the vice-president of the California Horsemen's Association, Mr. Nickleson, living at the 101 Ranch in Laytonville, it was decided to send him an invitation to attend the next club meeting. Mrs. Inez Griffith generously volunteered to design and make an appropriate flag for the organization with their colors, red and white. Hostesses Inez Griffith and Dorothy Hammernick served whipped cream, heaped high on wedges of pumpkin pie, and coffee for refreshments.

Perfect picnic weather, a good crowd, and a bountiful lunch all helped to make the annual picnic of the Methodist women a success. Held in Quadrio Park on August 25, with the committee, Louise Lawson, Edith Walker and Mrs. John William, Sr., going out early and making coffee and cooking eight dozen ears of corn so all was in readiness for the noon day lunch. Mrs. Grace Hamilton, wife of the new pastor, gave a very fine devotional which was followed by a business session during which President Edith Walker presided. Mrs. G. T. Saxon, treasurer in the absence of Esther Elliott, reported $428 from the recent rummage sale. Consequently the parsonage now boasts of a new Chesterfield set, an oil heater and a new refrigerator, in addition to other new items, all designed to make Rev and Mrs. Hamilton comfortable during their stay in Willits.

A young matron's abhorrence of her figure in stripes saved the day while an employee of the P.G.&E. found his job more hazardous than anticipated. It all came about when th housewife heard something moving in the brush in the back yard. Age-old instinct and the thought of her innocent babe sleeping in its crib, prompted her to bring out the shotgun and investigate. Sighting the prowler, she hesitated. Thus far he was only a trespasser. When he made no move to identify himself she fired in the opposite direction. Peace and understanding eventually prevailed when he proved to be an employe of the P.G.&E. company who had received permission to trespass, but had neglected to notify the housewife that he was around that day.

WILLITS RANCHER COMMITS SUICIDE

Frederick Rossow, In Ill Health, Hangs Himself

Frederick W. Rossow of Willits committed suicide Monday by hanging himself to a crossbeam in his barn. He had been dead for some time when found by his wife, Mrs. Emma Rossow.

Sheriff B. G. Broaddus made the investigation as county coroner and learned from Mrs. Rossow that her husband had been a sick man for some time, complaining often of the pains in his shoulders and arms.

Monday morning he arose as usual at 6 o'clock and after attending to the chores had breakfast. He then left for the barn across the road and after he had been absent for a considerable time she went over to see if anything was wrong with him, and found him hanging on the crossbeam.

In preparation for the act of suicide, Mr. Rossow had climbed a ladder to attach the rope to the beam. He then made a slipnoose which he placed around his neck and stepped off the ladder. He died by strangulation.

Mr. and Mrs. Rossow had been residents of Little Lake valley for the past 12 years.

Funeral services from the Anker Mortuary were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, followed by interment in the Willits Cemetery.

Murder Report Is Matter of Battery

Sirens bellowed through the countryside Thursday morning as deputies from Sheriff Broaddus' office sped into Potter valley in answer to a report that murder had been committed.

Hard on the heels of the deputies went the Journal cameraman and editor, with only the meagerest of information as to who and what had been done, and where.

After Deputy Sheriffs Roy Richey and Garrie Heryford had come, and gone with their man, the newsmen found the home of Dan Burris, where the carnage was reported to have been.

From Mr. Burris it was learned that the murder had been dressed down to a battle between Virgil Smith and Mrs. Smith, and that he, Burris, had settled the matter by basting Smith over the head with a frying pan while he stood over the prostate woman, choking her.

There was evidence that the battle had been bloody in the kitchen of the Burris home, ample reason to believe that there would be but one survivor of the fray, but while Burris had gone to report the matter to the sheriff, Mrs. Smith revived and moved out of the zone of danger.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Smith filed a battery charge against her husband and he was to be taken before the magistrate during the afternoon.

Edwin Castagna Makes Newsweek

Edwin Castagna, former librarian at the Ukiah Public Library, and now of Reno, Nevada, was given mention in the National Affairs section of Newsweek of August 31.

Reno is presently bothered over brothels, an institution which was outlawed there in 1942, and has flared up again, and the question is being asked whether it is better to outlaw the business or attempt to regulate it. Dr. Byron Caples and clergymen of that city recently petitioned the city council to put the lid, which had been considerably tilted back on the activities of the prosticuties. Before the council could act, says Newsweek, "the forces in favor of legalizing brothels stormed into action."

Anticipating that a special election would be the outcome, the Reno Public Library opened a special exhibit of books and pamphlets on the issue of banning prostitution vs. regulating it. Says Newsweek: "The civic-minded, conscientious librarian, Edwin Castagna, wanted to make sure that Renoites had all the facts before they voted."

Board Agrees On Resolution

Signs Jointly With Sonoma On Flood Control

The board of supervisors, which has moved slowly in approving the proposed Russian River flood control and Coyote Valley dam project, agreed in a joint meeting with the Sonoma board of supervisors Monday to signify its tentative approval of the project.

The board had earlier rejected a request to sign a resolution (already approved by the Sonoma authorities) to commit the yet-unformed district to an expenditure up to $9,000,000. Their position was approved at the meeting in Sonoma county and the board there rescinded its earlier action and agreed to sign, with Mendocino county supervisors, a joint resolution to 'encourage' the project, but not to promise any actual expenditure.

V. M. Moir, manager of the north coast district of the State Chamber of Commerce, said resolutions passed by both boards would aid in demonstrating to top officials of Army Engineers Corps that the people of the district favor the project.

The survey made by the engineers, on which a day-long hearing was held here six weeks ago, was approved from an engineering standpoint only by the newly formed Mendocino County Water Resources Commission, headed by Lloyd Bittenbender. The nine members agreed the financial requirements of the proposed dam and river channel stabilization works to cost $16,000,000, are not yet clearly outlined, and that this county should move slowly in order to protect its rights in river water and the rights of Coyote Valley property owners whose lands will be inundated.

With resolutions signed favoring the project, the plan is now ready to go to top Army Engineers and on to congress for approval and appropriation of the federal government's share of the cost, which is estimated at about $5,800,000.

Mendocino Editor Weds In Oakland

When Edith Nichols and August A. Heeser of Mendocino took their wedding vows in First Congregational church, Oakland, on Sunday, their friends had already been informed through the benedict's own newspaper which was established by his father.

The engaging announcement of this engagement is quoted from the Mendocino Beacon of August 28:

"By the time this paper reaches most of its readers, the writer will have joined the ranks of the benedicts and will have departed on a wedding trip that will take him and his bride to New York.

"I admit I am starting out a little late, but I first laid siege to the lady's heart quite some time ago, so it is not any hurried decision; and verifies the old saying, " All things come to him who waits."

Miss Edith Nichols needs no introduction to many of our readers. She was born at Mendocino, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Nichols, was graduated from the University of California and taught in Oakland high school of Oakland for a number of years.

"Ambitious to perfect herself in music, she spent several years abroad and studied under Lilli Lehmann. Returning to New York she opened a studio of her own and for some years has been a most successful teacher of voice there.

"She is a very charming and wonderful person and this scribe knows he is a very fortunate man to have gained her love and affection.

"The wedding will be solemnized in the First Congregational Church, Oakland, on Saturday afternoon. Following the ceremony a reception will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Nichols of Piedmont.

"Present plans call for temporary residence in New York, and we will be at home to our friends at 222 West 83rd Street after September 15th."
